

Northern Australia Development Office

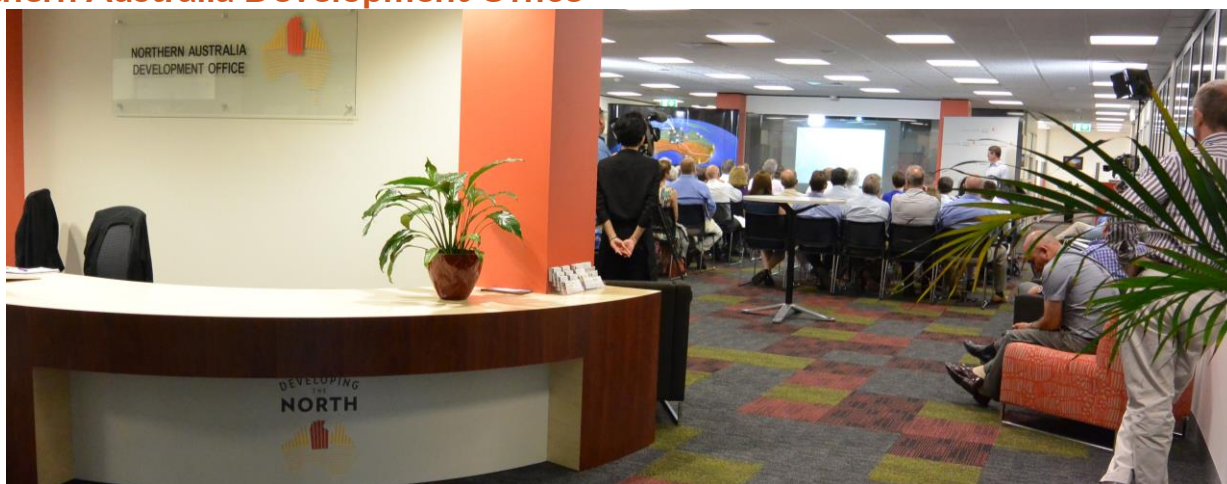

The Northern Territory (NT) is leading the agenda to develop the North and is laying the foundations of what is likely to be the biggest period of growth in the Territory's history.

We are building an economy that will attract people from all over the world and make us the envy of the region. Growth is how we pay for the good life, by being prosperous and productive. We need a strong economy if we are to take responsibility for ourselves, grow our regions, educate our kids, reduce welfare and provide social services. It is an investment in our children's future that will mean jobs, new business opportunities and economic security.

We need bold, innovative action now to build tomorrow's Territory and the NT has its own Northern Australia Development agenda which includes the whole of the NT to ensure that economic growth in the north is through "the right kind" of development. We have to protect our beautiful environment and great lifestyle and the development must be well-managed and sustainable.

Signalling its progressive and innovative approach to shaping the future of the NT, the Northern Territory Government established a ministerial portfolio for Northern Australia and created the Northern Australian Development Office (NADO).

Northern Australia Development Office

Under the leadership of the Department of the Chief Minister, NADO is leading the broader Northern Australia agenda.

NADO is an office and meeting space designed as hubs to support industry, investors and the private sector interested in doing high level business in Northern Australia. They feature executive facilities for high level strategic meetings for industry, investors, private sector and government.

NADO has a local office located centrally on Darwin's Esplanade, on the ground floor of Development House.

With Regional Offices in Nhulunbuy, Katherine, Tennant Creek, Alice Springs and Wadeye, industry, investors, private sector and government can shape the future of the Northern Territory.

Business hub

NADO is a hub for business and industry involved in progressing development across Northern Australia. Collocated in the offices are a number of key industry associations and Australian Government agencies including the Office of Northern Australia and Major Projects Approval Agency.
